

PILOT RELATES STORY OF MAIL PLANE'S CRASH

Thomas Bryan, 28, Brentwood, and Victor Gasbarro, 21, Dravosburg, the crew of the All-American Aviation company pick-up mail plane which crashed into Mt. Newman Monday afternoon while enroute from Chambersburg to Gettysburg, were resting today at Mt. Alto Sanatorium. Neither were seriously injured in the crash, the first major accident to an All-American ship since the line began operation in 1939.

The men, following the crack-up of their plane against the side of Mt. Newman, about two miles south of the Lincoln Highway, had walked for nine hours through the mountains before finding a deserted hunting camp cabin about 2 o'clock Tuesday morning. Gasbarro was found at the camp by local state police shortly after 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and Bryan was found nearby. Their wrecked ship was discovered at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by Corporal C. F. Temke and Private Robert Deltrich of the local state police.

Both Men Injured

Bryan, pilot of the plane, suffered a badly sprained and contused right ankle and foot which was helped rather than injured by the nine-hour walk following the accident. Dr. A. B. Danisawich, resident physician at the sanatorium, who treated the two men, told Bryan, "The pilot also suffered bruises and contusions of the chest. Married, he has flown for eight years, has been pilot on the local air-mail pick-up plane for over a year. Dr. C. C. Custer, medical director at the sanatorium, is supervising their treatment."

Gasbarro, single, mail clerk on the plane, suffered a laceration of the scalp and face and superficial bruises of the body. He has been in the flying service for four years, and has been mail clerk on the All-American run for three months. The accident was the first for either man and marks the first time personnel of the All-American company have been injured in 3,100,000 miles of flying.

Bryan, in an interview with a reporter for The Gettysburg Times Tuesday afternoon at the sanatorium gave the following account of the crash:

Flew by Instruments

"We left Chambersburg in the rain and heavy clouds. The air was turbulent. We flew on instruments several thousand feet above the mountains. I have often flown the route on instruments during the more than a year I've been on this route. When I reached a place where I believed we were over the mountains I decided to go down to see if we could get under the clouds."

"Gasbarro said, 'There's the ground.'"

"A split second later he said, 'There's the ground real close.' "I pulled back on the wheel and a moment later we hit the tops of some trees. Then the landing gear hit and a second later the wing. We were on the ground."

"We cut a path about 75 feet long through the trees before we hit. The wing crumpled and the plane turned clear around, throwing the motor to one side."

"We had just installed new safety belts and they saved our lives. Gasbarro broke his belt from the force of the landing and flew into the side of mail bag. My belt held."

Foot Caught in Pedal

"Both of us were dazed and we sat there for some time before we attempted to get out of the plane. When I tried to move I found that my foot, which had been in the rudder pedal, had been caught by the form on the pedal and I had some difficulty in freeing it. "Only the sturdy construction of the plane and the new safety belts saved us. That plane could really take it."

The plane hit the ground at 5:11 o'clock Monday afternoon. Some time later the two men, recovering from their dazed condition, crawled out and began a journey that was to last for nine hours.

Bryan said he believed they were north of the Lincoln highway and headed south down hill. The plane actually landed on the eastern side of the "Marsh Creek Hollow," about two miles south of the Lincoln highway.

Walked Down Mountain

The aviators headed south, going down hill all the time because they believed in that way they would reach a road. About midnight they began to notice familiar landmarks and discovered they had made a complete circle in their wanderings. They tried again, still going south and about 2 a. m. Tuesday found a vacant hunting lodge about five miles south of the Lincoln highway. (Please Turn to Page 5)

$1,019 DONATED TO WAR FUND GOAL OF AREA

Contributions to the Adams County War Fund reached $1,019.55 today. Included among the donations turned in to Mrs. Ellen Tipton Buehler, treasurer of the drive, was the first list of contributions from the corps of women solicitors making a house-to-house canvass through the county.

Mrs. M. D. DeTar and Mrs. Keith Berger, in charge of Chambersburg street, turned in contributions of $178.55. The street was the first to be completed by the solicitors, and included a $25 donation from Dr. and Mrs. C. Harold Johnson and $10 from the Wednesday Bridge club.

Other contributions turned over to the treasurer included $195.25 from the Gardner's plant of the C. H. Musselman company; $50 from the Victor Products corporation, and $12 from Fairfield churches. The total for the day was $386.55.

The county still has to raise more than $27,700 to meet the $28,770 county quota in the nation-wide drive to raise $125,000,000 to finance 17 wartime relief organizations.

$500 Is Pledged

The contribution by the employees of the Gardner's plant was described by Paul A. Kinsey, chairman of the War Fund drive as the first amount to be turned in by the plant, with pledges by the employees totaling $500.

M. E. Knouse, of the Knouse corporation, Peach Glen, is to meet with the 350 employees of his plant this week to secure donations for the War Fund, Mr. Kinsey said. Mr. Knouse is planning to give a sum equal to the amount pledged by the employees for the War Fund, Kinsey said.

Committees in Mummansburg and Arendtsville were still in the formative state today with the groups in charge of those communities last year during the USO drive unable to act during the current drive. It was expected, however, that the committees there would be completed today or Thursday.

C. C. MEMBERS SUGGEST NEW THOUGHTS FOR POST-WAR PLAN

Members of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce, at their regular October dinner-meeting Tuesday evening at the Hotel Gettysburg, expressed approval of a post-war planning program in an open forum discussion of the project.

The consensus of thought expressed by individual members reflected the belief that the movement should proceed along these lines:

1. An expansion of our present resources, agricultural, cultural, travel and industrial.
2. A program devoid of support through federal funds.
3. Procurement of new industries that will employ skilled hands.
4. Absorption and utilization of the employables that will be available here after the war.

President Mares Sherman presided at the session and expressions on post-war planning brought the following statements:

Charles W. Myers, Western Maryland railroad agent: I feel that we should wait until after the war before we formulate any plans for post-war projects. The war, I believe, is going to last a long time.

Help Service Men

Radford H. Lippy, proprietor of Lippy's men's store: I have not read much about the post-war planning but I fail to see what good the employment and unemployment census will bring. We should concern ourselves with finding jobs for returning service men rather than for those now working who may return here after the war.

J. I. Burgoon, of Burgoon and Yingling, cannery: I think it well to make plans now and I suggest that we use the services of the employment office.

Dr. Fred Tilberg, National Park Service Historian: I believe in the expansion of local industry through public works, through definite jobs for idle men. We might utilize the service of the service clubs and prepare to make use of Federal funds. We owe a responsibility to the men in the service and should prepare to fill the gap that will prevail from immediately after the war to the normal work programs.

Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, surgeon at the Warner hospital: I also feel that the war will last a long time and the crux of the plan to me seems to be to get more industries.

Develop Resources

Henry M. Scharf, manager of the Hotel Gettysburg: I feel that our first obligation is to make an analysis of what we have now—our present industries, the college, our agricultural resources and our travel industry. I am opposed to the use of Federal aid. We should develop what we have, help our present resources to absorb the available labor. We should give thought to the expected changes in the travel habits of motorists so that Gettysburg will always remain foremost in the travel picture. The modernization of the Lincoln Highway will make our Battlefield more accessible. We should above all do all we can for what we have.

Edmund W. Thomas, president, First National bank: I am opposed to Federal aid in any form. When you consider that since last November we raised almost $6,000,000 through war bonds we can also find financial support for worthwhile projects for Gettysburg. There are at least 49 U. S. lending agencies and one agency cost the taxpayers $6,000,000 a year to operate. We do not need Federal aid here. As to new industries the problem in the past has been to find suitable floor space for them. We should give some thought to that problem first.

Skilled Workers

Ralph Z. Oyler, M. A. Hartley & company: I feel that our employment and unemployment census is a step in the right direction and can be the basis for our post-war planning. If we only secured one industry it would be of some help.

Dr. J. Walter Coleman, superintendent of the National Park: I, too, feel that the questionnaire is a step in the right direction. We should be in position to provide the best possible type of work for our available workers. We should plan to keep the best workers here, provide (Please Turn to Page 2)

4 County Soldiers Together In India

At least four Adams county boys are serving in the same outfit in India according to a letter received this week by The Gettysburg Times from Pvt. Joseph H. Wisotzkey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Wisotzkey, Breckenridge street.

The letter follows:

Dear Sir: Just a few lines to inform you that I am receiving the Times at my new address. I missed a few months' copies of the Times since I have been in the Army, but that was on account of going overseas. My parents said they would make sure and subscribe for it and that they have it sent to me. I was reading the Times, so I thought I would write you a letter of thanks for your cooperation.

The weather in India is warm, and the wind is blowing and I can't go any further on account of falling into trouble with the censor. I am with three boys from Adams county and they are in the same barracks I am. We are all happy and would like to see this "war" over soon. Again thanking you for the Times.

Respectfully yours, Pvt. Joseph H. Wisotzkey. Radio service, Baker's Battery Service.

WOMAN'S CLUB IS COMMENDED FOR WAR WORK

The Gettysburg Woman's club was commended for its achievements on the "Kitchen Front" by John B. Gambling in a broadcast out of New York this morning.

The commendation included the reading of a letter from Mrs. Charles R. Wolfe, chairman of the local club's Conservation and Gardens committee, citing the accomplishments of the women in connection with the food conservation program. The club was also commended for its contribution to the war effort.

Letter From Club

The following letter was read over the air:

"We believe that you may be interested in a program on the subject of food conservation, carried out by the Woman's club of Gettysburg and originated largely as a result of listening to your broadcasts of last summer on the subject of Victory Gardens and canning."

"The Conservation and Gardens committee of our club made a survey, answered by 68 members. It was learned that 49 had a Victory Garden and that 68 had canned some food. The total amount of fruits and vegetables was 11,984 quarts compared with last year's total of 8,176. In addition reports showed that 764 packs of vegetables have been stored."

"These women are all urban dwellers, some of whom were forced to plant their gardens outside town, while others had space available in their yards. Nine members reported that this was their first attempt at canning food but that they are meeting with excellent results."

Food Exhibit

"An exhibit of fresh and canned fruits and vegetables was prepared for the October meeting of the club, with the center of attention being directed at a prize beet which measured seven inches in diameter and weighing five pounds."

"We are calling your attention to this report not because it is extraordinary but because we think it is typical of the work which women are doing throughout our country in the interest of supplementing and conserving our food supply."

The announcer said that the work of the local club was an example for other women's organizations throughout the country to follow. Mrs. J. Walter Coleman is president of the club.

By RICHARD McMURRAY
The Associated Press

Allied armies advanced slowly in the mountain tangles of central Italy, forcing some Germans to retreat and slugging viciously at others clinging to key positions before their stout Mondragone-Vastro line guarding Rome, the Algiers communice said today.

The British Eighth Army captured Acquaviva and Civita Campomarano, five miles north of Petrella which fell yesterday. The American Fifth Army sliced ahead into high ground beyond Raviscanina and Francolise.

Advances ranged from three to six miles, mostly in the center. On the Adriatic, the Germans were declared withdrawing to the left bank of the Trigno river.

Blast Rails, Roads, Supplies

Allied planes bombed Salonika and Sedes in Greece and the Heraklion airfield in Crete. Heavy and medium bombers pounded railroads, highways, supply dumps and German positions north of the mountain front which stretched from the Mediterranean to the Adriatic generally about 100 miles below the capital.

"Both the Fifth and Eighth Armies continue to make progress," the communice said, "In some sectors, enemy withdrawals have been reported, but in others, he is holding strongly to key points."

Moscow dispatches said the fall of beleaguered Krivoi Rog was imminent, now that its main rail center two miles north of the iron city, had fallen. Throughout south Russia, four Ukrainian armies were pounding mightily at the Germans seeking to extract themselves from disaster in the Dnieper bend. The Russians said they killed 12,000 Germans, captured more than 100 towns and advanced up to a dozen miles.

Moscow Conference In 9th Day

Spanish correspondents in Berlin said the Germans were using their strategic reserves in an attempt to stem the Russian tide.

The foreign office heads of the United States, Russia and Britain grappled in Moscow with some of the most important questions between the three great Allied powers—questions that made the parley a preliminary peace conference. The meeting was in its ninth day and by no means near its end, Moscow dispatches said.

1,000 MORE WAR RATION BOOKS TO BE ISSUED

With slightly more than 1,000 books yet to be distributed to complete the work here, school teachers in the three elementary schools looked forward to 8:30 o'clock tonight when their three days of labor in issuing War Rationing Book No. 4 will end.

Up to noon today 4,594 books had been distributed, with the High Street school having issued the most books so far. A total of 217 books distributed this morning brought to 1,986 the number issued at that building. R. Clair Van Dyke, school site administrator, said at noon. Seventy-seven persons visited the school this morning for the books and 39 signed the Home Front Pledge. Tuesday 339 persons who made applications were issued 943 books. One hundred and thirty-eight signed the pledge. On Monday, first day of the rationing period, 284 persons applied for 826 books and 177 signed the pledge. More pledges would have been issued Tuesday, Mr. Van Dyke said, but the supply at the school was depleted and additional pledges had to be sent there.

Busy This Morning

Lloyd R. Hartman, school site administrator at the Meade school, reported that the school experienced one of its busiest sessions so far when 310 books were issued this morning. These books brought to 1,000 the number distributed at Meade school.

Lincoln school has issued 1,608 books so far, Paul R. Mehring, school site administrator, reported, including 731 since noon yesterday. Both Lincoln and Meade school administrators estimated that about 70 to 75 per cent of the applicants there were signing the Home Front Pledge. The pledges are voluntary.

MURRAY AT HANOVER

Harold H. Bair, post, No. 14, American Legion, Hanover, this evening will be host to Frank X. Murray, Scranton, commander of the Department of Pennsylvania, at the annual turkey dinner of the post. District Commander Stanton House, Aspers; District Adjutant Howard Sheffer, Gettysburg, and other prominent Legionnaires will be in attendance.

Mrs. George Dick has returned to her home in Flemington, N. J., after a visit with her mother, Mrs. William Codori, Baltimore street.

While victory was being fashioned in the steel and fire of Russian cannon at Krivoi Rog (pop. 200,000), the Russians also were making giant strides toward the Crimea which threatened to become a vast death trap for the German 17th army. Veseloye, 24 miles northwest of Melitopol, fell. This Russian arm appeared to be thrusting toward a junction with the Reds around Krivoi Rog to close a great sack around Germans lingering in the Dnieper bend.

Kiev Is Isolated

Another Russian force was declared to be within 15 miles of the Znamenska-Nikolaev railway, a main north-south line. The Ukrainian capital of Kiev was said to be virtually isolated. Hard fighting was reported on the sodden terrain of White Russia from Gomel to Orsha.

Allied prisoners returning from Germany asserted again that Nazi morale was cracking, particularly under the stress of Allied bombing. The British air minister, Sir Archibald Sinclair, said 17,000 tons of bombs were dropped on Germany in four weeks ended Monday. Thomas Johnston, secretary of state for Scotland, said after talking to the prisoners that the majority believed firmly "that if our bombers can continue until Christmas, the war will be over."

Strong German forces launched a major offensive in Yugoslavia to reconquer territory gained by the Partisans.

3 Airfields Ruined

Three Japanese airfields on the outer defenses of Rabaul were declared bombed into uselessness. Enemy planes no longer rose from Kahili and Kara on Bougainville in the northern Solomons, or from Ballale in the Shortlands.

Four bitter Japanese counterattacks northwest of Finschhafen, New Guinea, were thrown back and the enemy was barred from coastal escape.

More bombs fell on Burma. U.S. planes off Hainan island from the China coast sank a small Japanese tanker and left a freighter sinking.

Suggesting things to come for Japan, the commandant of the western sea frontier, Vice Admiral John W. Greenlaid said at San Francisco:

"If Japan, badly hurt, proposes to withhold its major fleet to defend home waters, it will not be long before we shall have the mandated islands and other strongholds under direct siege, and thence project our operations into the China sea."

BURMA ROAD IS KEY TO FUTURE OF THAT AREA

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Associated Press War Analyst)

He is a daring person who undertakes to explain the nature of the warfare in that primeval zone of China's Yunnan Province which abuts on northwestern Burma, for the whole situation is surrounded by as much mystery as a dish of chop-suey.

However, I've been asked by an inquiring newspaper editor to do the job, and so if you'll get out your chop-sticks we'll pick about a bit.

The key to the military operations is a visionary road which cut across the wilds of northernmost Burma to form a new life-line for China to the outside world. The Allies are trying to make their vision an actuality, and the Japs are doing their worst to prevent it.

The story begins in the occupation of Burma by the Japs — an achievement that gave them possession of the lower reach of the Burma road, which was China's only feasible route to her Allies. After the road crosses from Burma into Yunnan it runs along the upper Salween river for a way and then east across the river and on to Kunming and Chungking. That portion of the road east of the Salween is in the hands of the Chinese.

A Tall Order

Now, of course, the only way to reopen the old Burma road is to recapture Burma—a terrific and perhaps long operation. And paradoxically, before Burma can be captured the Allies must reopen the Burma road—or its equivalent. The point is that military supplies of all kinds must be moved to the impoverished Chinese so that they can strike against Burma from the north at the same time that the amphibious invasion takes place in the south from the Bay of Bengal.

So the Allies have been developing an alternative route to take the place of that part of the Burma road which is in Japanese hands. The substitute is a road that runs through Indian Assam, northwest of Burma, until it is close to the Burmese border in the far north. From that terminus American engineers, assisted by Indians and Chinese, have hewed an extension southeastward right into the enemy-held territory of Burma. The official name of this extension is the Lido road, but our boys call it the "Tokyo road," for obvious reasons.

Now the Allies want to link the Lido road with the Burma road on the other side of northern Burma—a tall order. They also aim to connect with the town of Myitkya, which is the rail-head for Mandalay to the south and is the main Jap base in the north. The only way to do that is to clear the Mikado's little men out of that neck of the primeval world. And that brings us up to the present fighting in Yunnan.

Heavy Fighting

The Chinese hold the western side of the Salween river near where the Burma road passes over it by suspension bridge. The Salween at this point lies at the bottom of a terrific gorge some 5,000 feet deep. In fact, that whole terrain, with its great masses of mountains and ravines, is a land for giants.

The middle of this month the Japs suddenly started an offensive against the Chinese on the Salween, and there was much speculation as to the exact meaning of the attack. It now seems that the Nipponese were striking defensively, to prevent the Chinese from making a drive of their own into northern Burma and clearing a route for the extension of "Tokyo road." The forces engaged are not large, but there has been heavy fighting.

So there's the solution to our mystery. If and when land communication between India and China can be restored, supplies will pour over it to our Chinese allies. In this battle for northern Burma the American airforce is playing a heavy role, not only in aiding the celestials in actual battle but in disrupting Jap communications.

PARDON BOARD HEARS PROTEST IN "HEX" CASES

Harrisburg, Oct. 27 (AP)—Protests against commutation of the sentence of the last of three men sent to prison in 1929 for the "hex" murder in York county of Nelson Reymeyer were heard today by the State Pardon Board.

Edwin Buchen, assistant district attorney of York, told the board he has received "protests from a number of persons," including the daughter of the slain man, against release of John Blymire.

"They have a fear of residing in the same community with this man," Buchen asserted.

"Good" Record

John Curry, sentenced along with Blymire to life imprisonment in the strange case was released from the Eastern Penitentiary in 1939. Wilbert Hess, who was sentenced to 10 to 20 years for second degree murder, was released the same year.

Pardon board records show the trials developed testimony that the trio went to Reymeyer's cabin to seek a lock of hair which they believed would break a "spell" cast on Hess' mother. Curry was accused of striking Reymeyer with a piece of wood and the others were charged with binding the man in a chair and then setting fire to his cabin.

Blymire was represented before the board by Adam F. Geesey, York attorney, who said "Curry really killed Reymeyer." He asked his client's release on the basis of a "very good" prison record.

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—Passage of legislation exempting insurance companies from the anti-trust laws "would establish a dangerous precedent under which other groups of special interests might apply for and receive immunity." Attorney General Francis Biddle told a Senate Judiciary subcommittee today. Thus, Biddle said, gains made toward "preserving and strengthening the American system of free enterprise" might be whittled away "by a process of attrition."

Says Plane Costs Will Cut Numbers

Pittsburgh, Oct. 27 (AP)—Don't expect that airplanes will become as common after the war as automobiles are now, warns C. Bedell Monro, president of Pennsylvania Central Airlines.

"The original cost of a private plane is high, and the operating cost for operations covering 100 hours a year will total $1,020 at a minimum," he told the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries last night at its annual banquet.

Traffic control problems will operate against "sky-darkening clouds" of private planes, he added.

Not every community will be on the "main line" of an airline, he said, but predicted that within five years after the war every town will be within an hour's drive of passenger air service.

Communities should not "go overboard" in building airports, he warned, saying "a small city will never be big just because it has a big airport."

American's Day Starts With Breakfast

American crystal never asks the time of day. You can set it out for breakfast, again for lunch, dinner, and all other times when food or drink is in order. So can one for whom you buy American as a gift.

FIVE LINEMEN SELECTED FOR STELLAR PLAY

By TED MEIER

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—Three guards from unbeaten Navy, Washington and the Texas Aggies; a tackle from Ohio State; and a center from Tulane were outstanding linemen in last Saturday's college football games.

The feats of these five, Ben Chase, of Navy; Damon Tassos, Texas Aggies; Bill Ward, Washington; Bill Willis, Ohio State; and Buddy Gatewood, Tulane, stood out in a long list of notable achievements by generally overlooked guards, tackles, centers and ends.

Navy coaches declared Chase played the best of any Navy lineman against Georgia Tech; that his defensive play kept the Engineers from upsetting the Middles.

Ohio State lost to Northwestern, but in the opinion of Buckeye Coach Paul Brown, there was "no question that Willis was the outstanding man at his position on the field."

Tassos Tough
Klepto Holmes, coach of the North Texas Aggies who held the Texas Aggies to a scoreless deadlock, said this about Tassos: "He was the toughest fellow we went up against."

Gatewood drew high praise from James Stewart, coach of the Southern Methodist eleven that lost to Tulane. "The guy was in our hair all day," Stewart said.

As for Ward, a former Washington State star, his coach, Ralph "Pest" Welch, pointed out that two of Washington's touchdowns against March Field were made through Ward's position.

Other outstanding linemen of the week included guard John Jaffurs of Penn State, who made 90 per cent of the tackles against Maryland; tackles Ed Sprinkle of Navy and Francis Merritt of Army; center Harry Oberhelman of Yale, and end Frank Quillen of Pennsylvania.

HERSHEY HIGH HERE ON FRIDAY

Hershey, Chambersburg and Hanover, who now hold top positions in that order in the Southern Pennsylvania interscholastic football conference, are expected to continue their winning ways this week.

Current leaders and unbeaten to date, Hershey high will meet the victory-less Gettysburg High Ma-rooms here Friday evening. Coach Peck McKnight's outfit has only a 6-6 tie with Mechanicsburg to mar an otherwise perfect record. Following the game here this week Hershey plays Hanover on the latter's field November 5 in a game that may well decide the 1943 title holder.

Carlisle high, knocked from the unbeaten ranks last Friday by Hershey, is expected to have its championship hopes further smashed when it meets Hanover at Hanover Friday. It is the belief of many, despite the upset at the hands of Chambersburg, Hanover is the best team in the circuit.

The third game booked in the league this week will find Waynesboro playing at Chambersburg Saturday afternoon. The Trojans are anticipating little trouble from the Golden Tornado who sport but one victory on its record.

Mechanicsburg is not scheduled for a conference game this week but will meet Scotland at Mechanicsburg Friday night.

SHORTAGE OF LIQUOR DENIED

Philadelphia, Oct. 27 (AP)—The liquor question was back in the spotlight today, with charges from one source that the shortage of supplies in state stores is reviving bootlegging, and from another source that there really is no shortage.

William J. Dunne, president of the Philadelphia Tavern association, said in a statement, "if the returned bootlegger is not routed at once, we will have a condition rivaling the prohibition era, with all its gang fights and slayings."

Dunne said he was turning over to the State Liquor Control Board information concerning others which he said had been made to many of the 1,500 members of his association to supply them with liquor illegally.

An article in today's Philadelphia Record said, "Warehouse bins are bulging with bottles bearing the most desired labels, but purchasers must wait in block-long lines only to be forced to accept unwanted brands or to be told the supply is exhausted altogether."

A third development was announced by W. K. Bruner, assistant supervisor for the Federal alcohol tax unit in New Jersey and Delaware, that his office is investigating reports that faked labels and counterfeit Pennsylvania liquor tax stamps are in circulation in the Camden, New Jersey, area.

Enough gasoline to overflow an average railway tank car is used by tanks of one American mechanized division during each 100 miles of travel.

Second Reinstated After "Set Down"

Philadelphia, Oct. 27 (AP)—Jake Stanley, who was "set down" for complaining to the referee about fouls between rounds of a bout at the Olympia last Thursday, has been reinstated as a boxing second.

Leon L. Rains, chairman of the State Athletic commission, said yesterday Stanley never was actually suspended, but "only told he couldn't work until he got the okay of the commission."

"If we allowed seconds to shout at the referee, they'd be shouting all the time," said Rains, "they can't do it in any other state and they can't do it here."

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—The horse racing industry, which is so big that a million bucks is hardly more than small change, seems to be all tangled up in a two-bit problem . . . at least, that's the impression we get from reports of a meeting of racing secretaries from all the big tracks to consider the "claiming problem."

The problem seems to be how to run a $2,000 horse in a $1,250 claiming race without having him claimed. . . . The horse owners howl every time they lose a horse by running him for less than they think he's worth and they howl when the racing secretaries try to substitute graded handicaps or some other different method of classification. . . . The two-buck bettors, who don't care whether a horse is claimed or not so long as he wins some dough for them, also howl at times, so why not ignore the owners' yelps just like those of the fans?

Racing is a howling success, anyway.

QUOTE, UNQUOTE
Coach Lou Oshins of Brooklyn College (trying to keep a straight face at the football writers' lunch): "No doubt those two scrimmages the Dodgers had against our 'T' formation last week helped them make that fine showing against the Bears."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
The Penn State publicity department reports that transportation difficulties forced its football team to make all its trips by automobile this fall . . . yet in some towns you can't even take a taxi to a football field. . . . When Movie Director William Berke wanted a boxer for a bit in one of his pictures, he needed only to turn to his assistant cameraman, Art Lasky, a former top-flight heavyweight. . . . When Tulsa U. handed Utah that awful walloping Saturday, it marked the first time in the Armstrong's 19 seasons as Utah coach that he had lost four games in a row. . . . Since an Army doctor yanked out his appendix, little Roy Phillips, former Tufts U. distance runner, has decided that was what bothered him every time he ran for seven months. Roy always had figured that if Greg Rice could keep running, he wasn't going to be stopped by a few cramps.

NIFTY NOMENCLATURE
Down in Oklahoma, reports Harold Keith, they're calling Coach Henry Frnk of Tulsa U. "the Alexander De Seversky of the football skyways" . . . get it? Air power. . . . And in England, says Schubert Dyche, ex-Montana State grid coach who now is a Red Cross supervisor, the kids call baseball "rounders gone mad."

His first brought him the title in the Nashville, Tennessee, Golden Gloves tournament and two bouts were all he needed to win the heavyweight crown at Keesler.

Overshadowed by the regular Norfolk Naval Training Station team during the regular season, Chief Specialist C. F. Urges Approval
Of Amendment
Pittsburgh, Oct. 27 (AP)—David L. Lawrence, Democratic state chairman, today urged voters next Tuesday to approve a proposed state constitutional amendment which would shift the power to change election district boundaries from the courts to the Legislature.

"It was originated and approved by the joint state government commission," stated Lawrence of the proposal, "and like all proposed amendments to the constitution, it was approved by two successive sessions of the Legislature."

"Because it is a step forward, even if in a minor direction, it should be approved by the people of Pennsylvania."

PHILLIES WILL TRAIN AGAIN AT HERSHEY IN '44

Philadelphia, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Phillies will train at Hershey, Pa., again next spring, according to tentative plans.

The announcement was made yesterday at a press conference in which William D. Cox, president of the ball club, revealed he had signed Mervyn Shea as a coach. Shea, former big league catcher, managed Portland, Oregon, in the Pacific Coast league last season.

Cox said he would attend the draft meeting in Chicago next Monday, when the Phillies will have fourth choice of the eligible minor leaguers.

The head of the Phillies said he had deals pending for players, but would give no names. In later conversation, it developed that the club is interested in Red Schoendienst, Cardinal-owned shortstop who hit .336 for the Rochester Red Wings last season, and Lou Novikoff, "Mad Russian" outfielder of the Chicago Cubs.

Manager Freddy Fitzsimmons said he thought Novikoff would never click with the Cubs again. "When they benched him after he reported, they killed him," said Pat Freddy. "but I'd like to have him. He hits that long ball for you."

SPORT
SHORTS
West Point, Oct. 27 (AP)—It isn't certain, of course, but Ed Kenna, Army's star back from Jackson, Mississippi, may play his first game of the season against unbeaten Penn at Philadelphia Saturday. Kenna's "trick" knee has kept him out of action thus far.

Chicago, Oct. 27 (AP)—Fritz Zivic, former welterweight boxing champion, will try to put a stop to Young Bobby Richardson's record of never having been knocked out when they meet in a 10-round bout Friday night.

The veteran Pittsburgh fighter and the 21-year-old Cleveland boxer will headline the opening boxing match of the fall season at the Chicago stadium.

Los Angeles, Oct. 27 (AP)—The annual Rose Bowl football game may be converted into a Pacific Coast conference title playoff—between the University of Washington and Southern California, both unbeaten and untied. At least, Washington's Coach Ralph Welch has approved enthusiastically such a suggestion from Los Angeles fans.

Orderville, Utah, Oct. 27 (AP)—Utah's hunting season is 12 days old today—and 15 hunters have met violent deaths.

NAVY GLOOMY OVER INJURIES

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 27 (AP)—It was a toss-up today whether the mud on the Navy practice field was thicker than the gloom emanating from the premises of Capt. John E. Wheelchel, head coach of the Middles who go to Cleveland Saturday for their supreme grid test with Notre Dame.

A heavy four-inch rainfall almost washed away yesterday's much-needed practice session, and to top that off, Wheelchel announced that several of his key players were laid up with injuries and bad colds.

Possibly figuring that any definite information might give aid and comfort to the enemy, Wheelchel refused to name the casualties, but he didn't disguise his concern.

The Middles will match their passing ace, 150-pound Hal Hamberg against Notre Dame's Bertelli, but the relative power of the two great lines may well determine the effectiveness of these overhead assaults.

PICK ANGOTT
OVER WHITE
Hollywood, Oct. 27 (AP)—Charlie Jones, who has spent 29 years in boxing and managed Sammy Angott to the lightweight title, says Sammy may knock out Luther (Sluggo) White of Baltimore before the 15th round of their NBA championship go tonight in Hollywood baseball park.

"One thing I am sure of," Charlie hastens to add, "and that is Sammy will retain his championship. He's the strongest lightweight in the business, is in perfect physical condition, and doesn't lose to fellows like White."

"He was inactive for six months, then stepped in and whipped Willie Pep, who had won 62 straight."

Henry Armstrong thinks Sammy is too good an fighter, too rugged for White, and that the Baltimore boy will be a big target. But Armstrong's manager, George Moore, says Angott doesn't hit hard enough and that White, a ceaseless borer, will pile up enough points to win.

Angott gets a flat guarantee of $15,000 for tonight's affair. White, who came here broke and has done fairly well in winning eight in a row, doesn't get anything unless the gate goes over $25,000. He takes 60 per cent of everything over that figure.

Angott won the NBA title from Davie Day in 1940 and the world championship from Lew Jenkins a year later. He has lost to only two men since, both times in the welter class, and no man has beaten him at 135 pounds since he took over.

Grand National
Grouse Meet Opens
Lock Haven, Pa., Oct. 27 (AP)—Twenty-six prize winning bird dogs, their owners and handlers convened on the Coudersport pike area near here today for the start of the Grand National grouse championships.

Entries were registered from Maine to Mississippi, with every contestant required to have won previous trials. Competing dogs will be judged on their ability to find grouse in their native habitat.

Judges on horseback will follow the working dogs. The trials may run a few days or continue for several weeks, since all dogs must be allowed to work under approximately equal conditions.

Judges are Dr. James Goodwin, of Concord, Massachusetts; Frank D. Fair, of Sharon, and Dewey Hutchison, of Saginaw, Michigan.

HIGGINS PICKS LIONS TO WIN

State College, Pa., Oct. 27 (AP)—It's Penn State over West Virginia here this week—take it from Coach Bob Higgins of the Nittany Lions, who made that prediction in the first burst of optimism he's had all season.

"We ought to beat them," Higgins declared. "They're pretty good but I think we can take them."

Higgins expects to lose as many as 17 of his Navy trainee players this week through re-assignment to other posts but said, "We'll still have a good first team."

"Other colleges are losing men at the same time and we'll be more or less on a par again," the coach said. "We'll just have to move some men up."

9 to be Lost
Players due to leave include Jim Graham, Jack Castiglione, Hal Mauch, and Milt McGuire, backs; Bill Smyth and Dick Trumbull, ends; Tad Hapanowicz and Bill Kyle, tackles; Jim Marides, guard and center Bill Powers.

Outstanding among those expected to remain are John Jaffurs, 190-pound guard, and Bobby Williams, forward passer.

Last year, West Virginia beat Penn State 24 to 0 to deprive the Lions of an undefeated season.

Flynn Denies
Paternity Charge
Los Angeles, Oct. 27 (AP)—Screen Actor Errol Flynn has filed an affidavit in Superior court denying the contention of Mrs. Shirley Evans Hassau that he is the father of her three-year-old daughter, and asking that her suit be dismissed.

"The child is wholly unrelated to me, and there is no legal reason why I should support or maintain it," stated Flynn's affidavit.

Mrs. Hassau sued Flynn for $1,750 a month support for the child, $5,000 medical expenses and other costs.

The actor's affidavit said his movie salary is $6,000 a week.

SECOND NAVY DAY OF WAR IS COMMEMORATED

Philadelphia, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Fourth Naval District looked back on its accomplishments of the last year with pardonable pride today as it observed its second Navy Day of the present war.

Highlighting the observance in the district, comprising Pennsylvania, southern New Jersey and Delaware, was tonight's broadcast by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, speaking in Philadelphia, "birthplace of the Navy."

Secretary Knox speaks at a dinner sponsored by the Navy League, and is expected to tell of his recent trip to the Mediterranean battle area.

Women's Reserve
Most of the district's cities celebrated by opening a drive to enlist enough members for the Navy's Women's Reserve to relieve for sea duty the number of men required to man the Franklin, the Navy's newest aircraft carrier.

Highlights of the district's Naval construction since last Navy Day include: Launching of the great battleship New Jersey, the big seaplane tender Currituck and a number of destroyer escorts and tank-carrying landing craft by the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

Launching of the super-cruiser Alaska, first of a class, and a number of light combat aircraft carriers by the New York Shipbuilding Corp., Camden, N. J.

PERPLEXED

never know the answers to the problems. I can see the beegar on the corner and I think that shouldn't be.
hear the war drums beating, and I read the lists of dead.
and I wonder just how many years
lies lasting peace ahead.

I never know the answers. I am merely sharp of eye.
I see the wrongs which shouldn't be
and often wonder why.
I watch the young men marching
off to war on land and sea.
And something tells me deep inside
a better way must be.

I hear the scholars talking round
about me day and night;
So wise they seem and oh, so sure
their narrow views are right!
But all's so complicated here with selfishness and hate
I think 'twould take a Solomon to get the tangle straight.

I cannot give the answers to the problems. I believe
A way to build enduring peace men
can and will achieve.
but think from war 'twill never come, nor any lasting good Till men establish round the world
the fact of brotherhood.

FRIEND TO THE TOWN

In reading one of the delightful
little books of essays by the late E.
V. Lucas, I came across one where he lauds the friendly, ever-helpful
owner of the small town's Book Shop. In this instance his name was Peter.

To Peter came the people of the town for guidance as to their reading. Knowing all personally, who came to him for advice, he became an expert in selecting just the right book for each customer. And even if they did not buy it was a happy event to have them call, for in each case there was enrichment of mind and spirit.

I can think of no better friends
to a town than its Book Shop people. There is one section of the city in which I live that always gives me a thrill, and that is where Book
Shops are as numerous as the open Bars (once called Saloons) which suggests block after block of Book Shops. And in this section you will find about as many folks browsing
over books as you will see in other sections, men and women lined
about the Bars!

In these Book Shops there are quiet, peacefulness, and a spirit of mental adventure, that seem to surround each interested investigator, like an invisible halo. Here
the mind becomes nobly intoxicated!

In nearly every large city, as well,
however, there is to be found a friendly Book Shop with much of the spirit of the one in the small town. Long ago I recall the Morris Book Shop in Chicago, where the noted of that day came—Eugene Field, George Ade, Finley P. Dunne,
the McCutcheons, and others. And the Old Corner Book Store, in Boston, was noted far and wide in its old location, where the great of its day, came as to a select club. Still clinging to the old spirit of well-comeness and intimate friendliness
are such places as the Argus Book Shop, in Chicago, and the Drake
rare book rooms in New York City.
I have often lost my way in the latter two!

My library is filled with delightful volumes because of the friendliness and interest of many a Book Shop owner, whose cultural ideal
far surpassed his financial objective.
The book that you slip into your pocket, or house upon your shelf,
has so much rarer an aroma—when bought from a friend.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Tranquility."

Out Of The Past
From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and
The Gettysburg Times

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Flu Conquered at Camp Colt:
Camp Colt is practically free from influenza. This statement was made on Thursday morning at the camp hospital where it was told that during the past twenty-four hours there had been only one death, eleven had been returned to duty, and only six new patients had been admitted.

Killed Four and Took Four More:
Going over the top with the famous 100th Regiment, Francis E. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Miller, of Baltimore street, accounted for eight Germans, received a wound
over his eye, and saw his best friend
Charles Cool, of Fairfield, shot down beside him. Last week the name of Cool was given out by the War Department, degree undetermined. It is believed he is now recovering.

Shryock-Hess: On Saturday at Hagerstown, Miss Clara C. Hess, of Steinwehr avenue, and Harry L.
Shryock were married. They will reside in Gettysburg.

Baker-Taughinbaugh: A very bratty wedding was solemnized on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Taughinbaugh, York
street, when their elder daughter, Miss Minerva Irene, was married to
Rev. Charles W. Baker, Jr., pastor of the Lutheran church at Conflueence. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. B. Baker.

The bride was attended by Miss Margaret Caler, U. S. Navy, New York, and Miss Maude Baker, Gettysburg. Dorothy Taughinbaugh was the flower girl.

The bridegroom had as his attendants, Sergeant Arthur Taughinbaugh, of Camp Upton, Long Island, New York, and Ralph Baker of Clearfield.

Gettysburg Man at Camp Lewis:
Edwin Shoop, of Gettysburg, a member of the 213th Engineers,
now writes to his mother and aunt
from Camp Lewis, Washington.

Now a Lieutenant: Clyde L.
Bream, who was regimented supply sergeant of the 58th infantry, has been commissioned a second lieutenant of infantry, according to a cable received by his father, F.
Mark Bream, Carlisle street.

Ernst-Rice: On Thursday evening
at 6:30, Rev. Ira Sankey Ernst and Miss Nellie Rice were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Waybright Rice of Biglerville. The ceremony was performed by Dr. A. B. Statton, of Hagerstown, assisted by Rev. Paul O.
Shettel, newly appointed pastor of the United Brethren church at Biglerville.

On their return from a trip, the bridegroom will enter the Central Training School for Chaplains at Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville, Kentucky.

Huntzberger - Schlosser: Charles
Arthur Huntzberger, of Bowmans-dale, and Miss Leila Schlosser, of Arendtsville, were married Wednesday evening at 9:30, by Rev. T. C.
Hesson.

He's Waking Up America: Floyd
Gibbons, a Chicago war correspondent who was wounded in France
while going to the aid of an officer,
and was decorated by the French government, has returned to deliver a series of lectures. He is telling of what he saw over there and is "waking up America" to the best of his ability.

Nurses' Aides: Red Cross Pennsylvania Division Headquarters has issued a call for fifteen hundred nurses' aides between thirty-five and forty-five years for immediate service overseas. Instruction in home care of the sick and one month's practical hospital experience are required. Thirty dollars a month with maintenance or allowance for same, will be paid. The need in France is urgent.

Marriage License: A marriage license has been issued to Charles Emanuel Shindeldecker and Miss Bertha Shultz.

The Willow Lunch and Tea Room
closed on Wednesday for the season.

First College Man Gives Life:
Lieutenant Charles S. Montgomery, of Rosella Park, New Jersey, is the first Gettysburg College student to give his life in the World War.

Lieutenant Montgomery will be well remembered in Gettysburg. He was six feet, four inches in height,
was a member of the class of 1918
at college and took an active part in athletics. Montgomery went to France last July.

Personal: Mr. and Mrs. Donald Himes, of Dayton, Ohio, announce the birth of a son on October 19th.

STATE GIVES UP
ORDER ON MILK
PRICE INCREASE

Harrisburg, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Milk Control commission—to the disappointment of dairymen but to the relief of dealers
—has given up its attempt to raise milk prices without approval of the Office of Price Administration.

The state agency conceded late yesterday it was helpless, in the face of present federal price ceiling regulations, to boost retail prices two and three cents a quart and to give producers increases of more than 90
cents per hundred pounds.

It had ordered the advances effective
Nov. 1 regardless of federal approval. OPA officials said dealers who received or paid more than the OPA maximums would be prosecuted.

Governor Martin, however, stepped into the controversy with the assertion that federal war emergency agencies supersede state agencies
and Attorney General James H. Duff advised the commission it could not make its orders stick.

See Production Drop
The commission's submission returned the orders to the situation
of a few weeks ago when their effectiveness waited on federal approval—which was not forthcoming.

"Producers are very disappointed
in these developments," said Allan
Miller, counsel for the Pennsylvania
Dairymen's Cooperative. "Producers
had looked to the state government to fight their battle with OPA. If and to the Milk Control commission
this development is not followed by some action on the part of this administration to urge OPA to approve the orders, farmers are left without any redress."

"The result will be less milk because farmers will be compelled to sell their herds or reduce their operations. We are still hopeful that Governor Martin and the commission will proceed vigorously to obtain the approval of OPA."

Flashes of Life

FANCY THAT!
Springfield, Mass. (AP)—A typographical error today gave young women in this area a somewhat different reason for joining the WACS.

Secretary to Acting Mayor J.
Albin Anderson, Jr., typed out a proclamation calling for observance of "WAC Day."

The proclamation asked women
to enlist in order that they might
"relieve many able young soldiers
for more active duties."

Partnership
Williamsport, Pa. (AP)—Proprietors of stores throughout downtown Williamsport acquired a partner over night.

Halloweeners added "K William Gunter" in soap letters, to firm
names on all the windows.

Gunter is a bus driver, popular with the younger set.

PAY DIRT
Boise, Idaho (AP)—Second Lt.
James L. Greenburg of Camp
Swift, Tex., wrote Gov. C. A. Bot-tolfson for a bottle of Idaho earth
to complete his collection from 48 states.

He explained that homesick
campmates frequently exclaimed:
"I'd give ten dollars just to see some of that country right now!"

Then Greenburg produces the proper bottle—and collects.

the intention of the Burgess to employ extra police to see that his orders are obeyed. Anyone violat-

be prosecuted to the full extent of the law, states the Burgess.

Christen New Blimp
With Liquid Air

Akron, O., Oct. 27 (AP)—Mrs.
Jean Rosendahl, wife of Rear Admiral C. E. Rosendahl, christens the Navy's newest and largest airship
here today, in a ceremony coinciding with America's celebration of Navy Day.

Built by the Goodyear Aircraft
Corporation, the new blimp, designated the M-1, takes its bow as Mrs.
Rosendahl swings a ribboned bottle
of liquid air, rather than the champagne traditionally used for Naval surface craft.

SOLVE MYSTERY AT HOSPITAL

Norristown, Pa., Oct. 27 (AP)—
The mystery of how three men escaped from Norristown State hospital in two months was solved today. An inmate had a key.

The solution came with the apprehension of George Havidich, who was committed to the institution
for sending a threatening letter to Dennis Cardinal Dougherty, archbishop of Philadelphia.

Havidich, who escaped Sept. 26,
was captured at Alliquippa, Pa.,
from where he had mailed a letter
to Governor Edward Martin, signing his own name.

Dr. Arthur P. Noyes, superintendent of the hospital, said investigation showed an inmate obtained
a key to the building in which he was confined and freed two other men for a consideration, not wanting to escape himself. Later he sold the key to Havidich, who had
it on his person when captured.

Shortly after Havidich was returned, Dr. Noyes petitioned a Philadelphia court to have him removed to the State hospital for criminal insane at Fairview, Pa.,
saying he had escaped from two other State hospitals in Pennsylvania and one in New York.

After his last escape, a police guard was placed around Cardinal Dougherty's residence and offices.

men and sophomores will take this course and they will meet three days each week until completed.

The following members of the Glee club recently were elected to hold office for the ensuing year:
Miss Mary Louise McMullen of Buffalo, New York, president, and Miss Mary Alice Nolan, of Philadelphia, vice-president.

Inter-class hockey teams have been organized and other competitive games are now under way with each class trying for the plaque
which is given to the class scoring the greatest number of points at the end of the school year. The seniors have won the plaque for the past two years.

Pfc. Frank Dubel, of the 115th Infantry stationed in England, recently was married to Miss Doris Wilcox, a native of England. The wedding ceremony was solemnized
in London. Pfc. Dubel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Dubel, 210 De Paul street.

Cpl. Clifford Keilholz, son of Mr.
and Mrs. Maurice Keilholz, 18 West Main street, has been transferred from Ephrata Air Base, Ephrata, Washington, and now receives his mail in care of the postmaster at New York City.

Professor A. L. Leary, principal of the Emmitsburg high school, and who will have direct supervision of the distribution of the number 4
ration books, states, "The number 4 ration books will be issued at the Emmitsburg high school between the hours of 2 and 9 p. m. on Thursday and Friday, October 28 and 29. Applicants must have their number 3 book in their possession to secure the number 4 book. Application forms are now being prepared at the school upon which certain information can be listed by the applicant which will greatly facilitate the work of actually issuing
the number 4 book at the school.
These forms will be distributed by the school children to the homes

Not Enough Apples
For Winter Needs

Harrisburg, Oct. 27 (AP)—Expected poor apple harvests, now nearing completion in the southern Pennsylvania fruit belt, will fail to meet normal needs this winter, the Agriculture department reported today.

"The bulk of this year's crop was delivered to apple canners or processors," said Secretary Miles Horst.
"Growers say early indications for the 1943 crop were cut to about two-thirds of normal by winter freezing
and spring frost damage."

JERSEY COAST
HIT BY STORM

Sea Bright, N. J., Oct. 27 (AP)—
Roaring mountains of Green sea water pounded New Jersey's Atlantic seaboard today as one of the worst northeastern storms to strike
the state in recent years continued
to pile up its toll of damage.

Winds which reached gale proportions had slackened slightly today, the weather bureau said, but continuing rains and high winds were predicted.

This beachfront community was still partially isolated, with only one road connecting it with the rest of the mainland. Highways leading north and south were covered last night with driftwood, ocean water
and sand and police said the business section had six inches of water in the main streets.

Police Chief Andrew Anderson
said high tides had sent ocean
breakers rolling over stone bulkheads into the Shrewsbury river,
which is separated from the ocean
at this point by a strip of land
about 100 yards wide.

At Long Branch, snow plows
were being used to move drifts of sand left in the main streets by the water. Asbury Park police reported early this morning that no serious damage had been reported in that resort city from the heavy seas, but that the water had reached the boardwalk, far back from the normal tide line.

But, in the adjoining municipality
of Ocean Grove, a 50-foot section of the boardwalk collapsed into the swirling waters when concrete pilings were smashed away.

Charges Fly In Jersey Campaign

Newark, N. J., Oct. 27 (AP)—Vincent J. Murphy's campaign for the Governorship had apparently reached a climax today with the charge
that his Republican opponent used
the office in the last war to "establish refuges from the draft for his friends and political henchmen."

The Democratic candidate level-
led the accusation at Walter E.
Edge, World War I Governor and present GOP candidate, last night
in a statement in which he asserted
a "draft exemption mill" was operated a quarter-century ago in the state.

Murphy declared the "scandal"
was exposed just before Edge began a term as United States Senator
after resigning as chief executive.

Edge sent a letter late in August,
1918, to then provost marshal
General Crowder, said Murphy, in which he asked if men of the New Jersey State Militia units could be granted deferred classifications.

New Beef Subsidy Plan Operating

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—A new beef subsidy plan—designed to aid
slaughterers and having no effect upon the price of meat at the retail counters—was in effect today.

Announced by Economic Stabilization Director Vinson, the plan replaces the flat subsidy rate of $1.10
per hundred pounds of live cattle irrespective of grade, which was inaugurated last June, with a variable rate schedule for three grades of beef.

The new rates provide for subsidies of 50 cents for common, cutter
and canner classes of cattle, 90 cents for medium grades, a $1 rate for choice grades and $1.45 for good grades.

PRINTS FOUND IN MURDER CASE

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—New York police today awaited the arrival of Wayne Loneragan with the hope that the husky Royal Canadian Air Force cadet would supply needed information to piece together
the facts of the murder of his vicious 22-year-old wife, Patricia.

Loneragan, in the custody of two
New York detectives, was expected to take a train today from Buffalo,
New York, where, it was reported,
the three spent the night because they were unable to get seats on two early morning trains for New York.

Loneragan, 26, appearing tired but composed, arrived at Black Rock,
a Buffalo suburb, early today accompanied by Assistant District Attorney John Loehr and the detectives after he had waived extradition in Toronto.

Meanwhile, in New York developments were disclosed in the case
which has baffled police since the comely Mrs. Loneragan was found dead in her richly furnished apartment at exclusive Beekman Hill Sunday.

Police revealed they had discovered fingerprints on the base of one of the antique brass candlesticks
with which the heiress to a $5,000-000 brewery fortune was believed beaten to death. Authorities said they were trying to identify the prints.

Planning Wedding, Couple Is Killed

Warren, Pa., Oct. 27 (AP)—Sudden death on the highway abruptly ended the marriage plans of a young
New York Central railroad brakeman and his fiancée six miles west of Warren yesterday.

Melvin Hoover, 25, and Jeanette
Quigley, 25, both of Erie, were speeding eastward with their marriage license when, Coroner Ed Lowrey reported, their coupe crashed into an embankment trying to avoid collision with a gasoline trailer truck.

The car was demolished and the two killed outright.

miles from the Mont Alto sanatorium and near the Gettysburg-Waynesboro road. They broke into the cabin and found some wood for a fire. After getting warm they slept until some time Tuesday morning.

Gasbarro then went in search of help and was unable to find any habitation. Bryan started out about 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to seek help. He had found a farm house when local state troopers, Corporal Tenke and Private Deitrich, drove by with Gasbarro in their car. The two officers, who had assisted in the search Monday night and earlier Tuesday morning, had checked out Tuesday afternoon to start on the various hunting camps.

Saw Flashlight

The troopers stopped at a number of lodges and finally pulled up in front of the one where Gasbarro was. The aviator came out the door as they were about to walk in to the camp. They then started in search of Bryan.

Sheriff Daniel J. Wolff may have been sighted by Bryan and Gasbarro late Monday night or early Tuesday morning. While they were wandering in the woods they saw a flashlight moving about in the distance. They fired two shots from a revolver. A third shell jammed. After a while they saw the light disappear. It is believed the light they saw was the spotlight on the car the sheriff and companions were using in the search.

After taking the two men to the sanatorium where they were met by a group of All American officials headed by Don V. Severs, assistant to the vice president, the police officers went back to the mountains, where they found the single-motor Stinson Reliant high wing monoplane about 4:30 p. m.

They were accompanied by Mail Inspector B. L. Mulligan, of Carlisle, and Gettysburg's acting postmaster, Lawrence E. Oyster, and George Bushman of the local office, who removed the seven sacks of mail from the ship and took them to the Gettysburg post office. The mail, stored in the rear portion of the plane, was not damaged.

Plane Damaged

It could not be determined Tuesday evening what disposition will be made of the plane which had its front half demolished by the crash. The right wing was torn off.

Because of the rain and low ceiling Tuesday, planes from the local airport were unable to aid in the search, but 12 instructors from the airport, in six automobiles, aided state police and Michaux district foresters in the search for the plane and crew.

The two fliers may remain at the sanatorium for the next day or two before returning to their homes.

Mr. Severs told a reporter for The Gettysburg Times that the accident was the first major one in the 3,100,000 miles flown by the All American line on the 186,500 pickup deliveries made since May 12, 1939 when the service was inaugurated. The pilots have completed 92 per cent of the scheduled flights, flying in all but the very worst weather.

G-GIRL★

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW

Chapter 12

The floor creaked, the room whirled around. Sally held on to the window sill for support. She stared at Stewart, seeing his face through a wave of anger. For a minute she could find no words to express her disgust. Then they came. Afterward she couldn't remember what she'd said.

Stewart's composure was unshaken. "Why don't you just slap my face and be done with it? It seems to me that's the way it's done on the movies."

Sally's contemptuous voice stopped him. "Good old Palmer Stewart, friend of the working girl. So that's what you mean by 'friend.' And you didn't need a character reference just to buy me a drink. Of all the heels! Let me get out of here."

Out in the street Sally signaled the first cab she saw. She hadn't the faintest idea how far away her 19th Street room was, but she was going to get there as quickly as she could. She was shaking now, her hands and feet icy. I'm not shocked, she kept telling herself. I'm just disgusted with myself for being so taken in.

She slept restlessly that night—what there was left of it—seeing Stewart's good-looking face distorted in nightmares far more horrible than the actual occurrence.

The girls were in too much of a hurry to ask her what kind of a time she had had, though Frances did say, "Did you see the town?"

Sally had a feeling her three worldly-wise roommates would take a sensible view of the experience. The whole thing didn't seem quite so bad when viewed by morning light. She wished now she hadn't expressed herself so vehemently to Stewart. If she'd been more experienced at handling unpleasant situations, she could have told him off just as thoroughly without being so violent. But after all, she thought wryly, she hadn't been propositioned before.

Now her major worry was seeing him again—as she undoubtedly would very soon for Langhorne ran head on into Ickes' petroleum division all the time, and Stewart was an important cog in that agency. Right now she didn't see how she could bring herself to speak to him.

Langhorne at the office surprised her by saying solicitously, "You look tired, Miss Thayer."

For a crazy moment, Sally wondered what he would do if she told him about her experience with Stewart. Then she recovered her balance, and managed to answer lightly, "I guess late hours are too much for me, Mr. Langhorne. I should know better."

"Don't overdo it today," Langhorne cautioned her. Sally watched him go out to battle with the War department. She thought gratefully, he's so nice. By contrast to Stewart, her boss was on a par with the angels. When the telephone rang, she was typing busily. She flipped the key and said, "Mr. Langhorne's office."

It was Miss Ritchie in Temporary R's personnel office. She'd taken Sally to her desk that first day she began work at the War commission.

Miss Ritchie, who had a Brooklyn accent guaranteed to stick with her no matter how far away she travelled from Flatbush, asked, "Would you be interested in joining a group of War commission girls who are going up to a Fort Meade dance tomorrow night?"

It was all Greek to Sally. Miss Ritchie started at the beginning. Thousands of soldiers without overnight leave were footloose on Saturday night. The USO helped them out by planning dances for them at the clubhouse in Laurel, and invited government agencies to send girls up to be partners. The agencies, loaded down with female personnel, had no trouble complying. Miss Ritchie, the essence of fairness, tried to see that every girl who wanted to, went up to Meade at least once.

She was getting around to Sally now. "If you want to go, Miss Thayer, a bus will leave the corner of 3d Street and Independence Avenue at 7:30 tomorrow night. We send a chaperone with every bus-load. You go in a group and return in a group, leaving Meade at 11."

After the jolt sophisticated Palmer Stewart had given her last night, this party seemed to Sally as a Sunday School picnic. She thought a minute. It would probably be as dull as dishwater, but she loved to dance. "Thank you, I'd like to go, Miss Ritchie," she said.

She was humming "She Was Just a Soldier's Sweetheart"—with silent apologies to the Navy—when Palmer Stewart came quietly in. He jerked his head at Langhorne's office door. "Out?" Sally nodded, unable to speak, feeling the color drain from her face.

"OK. Before you catch your breath and begin throwing the furniture at me, I want to say something. I'm not apologizing, but I'm sorry I guessed wrong. Now let's forget it. We both have a job to do here. I don't want you choking with rage every time you say, 'Mr. Stewart is here to see you, Mr. Langhorne.' The war is a damned sight more important than any personalities. If it weren't, I wouldn't have come around here this morning to make my little speech."

"If you did enjoy your evening at all—and I think you did, up to a certain point—then I want you to repay me by forgetting the whole business. Do you think you can do it?" His face was very serious. Wise-cracking Stewart was a different person today. Sally looked at him as he stood very erectly in front of the desk. She remembered Langhorne, regarded Stewart as an exceptionally clever and able executive. She could see why.

She answered gravely. "You're right, I promise to forget it. Thank you for coming in."

Stewart smiled suddenly. "Good girl? I thought you'd be sensible. Now, will you put me down for an

SHOWERS HALT FOREST FIRES, HELP HUNTERS

Harrisburg, Oct. 27 (AP)—This week's steady showers figuratively poured forth good news for Pennsylvania hunters and communities with dwindling water supplies—and hung a "rained out" sign over serious forest fire threats.

"As far as we know," declared George H. Wirt, chief forest fire warden, "everything in state woodlands is soaked so that it would be impossible for fires to break out."

He said the heavy rains had absolutely stopped the drought-born fires of the last month which destroyed almost 20,000 acres of timber land, bringing for the year to date a total of "not more than 42,000 acres of forest burned," some 30,000 acres under 1942's total.

Helps Water Supplies

The week's rains were climaxed last night by a roaring nor'easter which caused extensive damage in eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Railroad facilities were damaged by winds of gale force in some sections of Jersey and in the Philadelphia area, three automobile deaths were blamed on the storm. Lowered visibility and wet leaves made streets extremely slippery. Rivers over the entire section rose steadily.

"The rain did the water supply a lot of good," commented H. E. Moses, director of the Bureau of Sanitary Engineering of the Health Department. "The situation is improved."

Up until rains of about 10 days ago, Moses explained, many communities were using auxiliary and emergency reservoirs but added he has heard no reports of water trouble since then.

"The rain will be very helpful for the hunters," declared Director Seth Gordon of the state Game Commission, referring to the opening of the small game season on Saturday.

"Tracking conditions for rabbits will be tip-top," he said. "The hunters will also have a big advantage in trailing wild turkeys and other game. The ground will be

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—Notre Dame, playing the two service teams, will comprise the bulk of network football broadcasting for the next two Saturday afternoons. NBC, CBS and the Blu, each will have its gridiron expert present with a handy microphone.

This Saturday's game with Navy is coming from Cleveland with a 2:45 p. m. start, followed on November 6 from New York with the Army contest.

On the other hand, the MBS network, which as far as possible has been following a policy of describing some game other than that carried by the other networks, will put on the Army-Penn clash this week-end at 1:45. The next week's contest has not been picked as yet.

FEAR TOO HASTY ACTION ON NEW TAX REVENUES

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY
Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—A fear that they had acted hastily in approving higher postal rates and new excises on liquor, beer and wines was voiced by several members of the House Ways and Means committee today.

As a move developed to reconsider the action, which would yield only about $1,439,500,000 of the $10,500,000,000 in new revenues sought by the administration, Rep. Robertson (D-Va.) told fellow committee members that he would call for a show-down on a federal retail sales tax, probably tomorrow.

One committeeman said privately that several members felt that jumping the liquor tax from $6 to $10 a gallon, as proposed by the group, would result in bootlegging.

Hits Postal Rate Change
Rep. Carlson (R-Kans.), Ways and Means member, said he would ask the committee to reconsider its vote raising postal rates, especially as they affect newspapers.

He interpreted the committee action as doubling publishers' second class rates on newspapers and magazines and said:

"I consider the action ill-advised, especially at a time when people need information through the press and when many newspapers have suffered revenue losses due to less advertising in wartime. I believe the freedom of the press is involved."

The postage change would not affect free-in-county mailing of newspapers.

First Revenue Action
Representative Disney (D-Okla.) said he would seek reconsideration of the vote to raise the airmail rate from six to 12 cents an ounce.

The postal revision, if approved by Congress would leave unchanged the three-cent charge on first class out-of-town letters but boost the local letter rate from two to three cents. Second class rates would be doubled with large increases also in charges for money orders, registered, insured and COD mail.

In its first major action toward bringing in new revenue, after turning down one administration tax proposal after another, the committee approved higher excises on many so-called luxuries—furs, jewelry, lipstick, general admissions to amusement places, bowling, billiards, cabarets, club dues and traveling.

However, it rejected all proposals to increase taxes on cigarettes and other tobacco and refused to recommend new taxes on soft drinks, candy, and chewing gum.

TO CONFER ON NEW DRAFT BILL

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—Legislation requiring that all available childless men be inducted ahead of pre-war fathers was headed toward a Senate-House conference today with indications that it is not yet out of the controversy stage despite virtually unanimous House approval.

The measure swept through the House yesterday while President Roosevelt was signing another bill boosting government payments to dependents of servicemen. Under the new law, first fruits of which will not be reflected in government checks for several months because of the bookkeeping entailed, a wife with two children for example will be allowed $100 a month, instead of the present $72.

The War department, which emphasized that dependents are not required to file new applications, said that when the changeover in the 3,000,000 family allowances accounts finally is completed the difference between the old and new rates will be paid retroactively as of October 26. Meanwhile, benefit checks will continue at the old rates.

Under the new schedule a wife alone continues to receive $50 a month, a wife with one child $80, and those with more than one child receive $20 extra for each additional child.

The proposed new draft bill would not prohibit the deferment of non-fathers but would require that fathers of children born prior to Sept. 12, 1942, not be called while non-fathers are "available for induction."

A single man deferred because of occupation would not be "available for induction."

Election Interest High In Allegheny

Pittsburgh, Oct. 27 (AP)—A Republican drive to retain the office of district attorney and to end an eight-year Democratic rule over the Allegheny county commission entered the home stretch today, topping in interest other races to be decided next Tuesday at the polls in western Pennsylvania.

In addition to these contests, nine judgeships, five of them now held by Republicans, and ten other county offices, evenly divided between the two major parties, are to be filled.

The watchwords "prepare for 1944 and sweep in our state" have been adopted by both sides. Each party has been concentrating in getting out a larger vote than the less than 43 per cent which turned out for the September primary.

The Democratic organization, with a registration advantage of more than 70,000 voters, sees "another victory for the party in Allegheny county," in the words of Coroner William D. McClelland, campaign chairman.

Democrats Dine At $100 Per Plate

Philadelphia, Oct. 27 (AP)—The annual $100 dinner of the Democratic city committee drew a crowd of 1,165 persons, who contributed about $110,000 to the party's municipal campaign fund, last night.

The diners, who paid $100 each for a $3 dinner, heard the toastmaster, James P. McGranery, new assistant to the Attorney General, declare, "the Republicans will not prevail this time. Philadelphia is about to be redeemed."

William C. Bullitt, candidate for mayor, was the principal speaker, reviewing issues in his campaign.

Judge Curtis Bok, candidate for State Superior Court, said a Democratic victory in Pennsylvania would increase chances of "keeping a liberal government in power in Washington."

COAL STOPPAGE THREAT HOLDS

By MARBEN GRAHAM
Pittsburgh, Oct. 27 (AP)—The comment of a spokesman for the United Mine Workers in Washington that the War Labor Board has "sinned away its day of grace" by rejecting the projected UMW-Union operators contract felt like a chilling blast today over the soft coal field.

Operators and miners alike expressed themselves privately as "jittery" over prospects of the walk-out which started last week in Alabama, spreading rapidly now, since the miners have repeatedly threatened to stop working after Oct. 31 unless they got a contract.

"The war labor board's projected contract would only pay time and one half for 45 extra minutes actually spent digging coal," said one prominent union official, who declined to permit use of his name.

"That is not giving us a red cent for the 45 minutes even. It admits the
